Pain treatment plans can be complex
But have no fear my friends!
We'll help you out so you won't guess
At how your cat can mend

First up is meds - there's lots of them
For use as pain relievers
From anaesthetics to aspirin
And all the in-betweeners

This includes opioids and NSAIDs
And localized nerve blockers
Which block the body's pain response
To make the hurting stop

Medication is one part
Of many plans for pain
But that's not all that we can use
To get you well again

Acupuncture works quite well
And laser therapy
Plus steps or ramps can ease sore joints and speed recovery

A treatment plan is better
When it has variety
This means we block pain at all levels
So you can find relief!

Doc's certified to manage pain
By the IVAPM
So any time you need him,
Call us up and come right in!

Howdy folks! Reporting live from New Orleans it's Raptor here with information about pain treatment!
The IVAPM - that's the International Veterinary Association of Pain Management - thinks Doc is one of the best to treat and manage pain in cats, and they've given him a certification saying so! For everything from post-op pain treatments to management of chronic conditions, the Cat Practice is where it's at!

Over and out,
Raptor
