

7.19.19

Even though the storm last week
Was not bad after all
I'm glad we were prepared
For much worse weather than this squall

And even though this storm wasn't
The kind that I'd call scary
We're in the season now
And there may be much worse than Barry

There's lots to plan for in a storm
If you're a kitty parent
Our vaccines, hotels, food, and meds
May not all be apparent

Us cats don't travel light, you know!
So keep that checklist handy
Just think ahead and make a plan
And we'll be fine and dandy!

Howdy folks! This is Raptor reporting live from 1809 Magazine and boy am I glad to be back to normal after that storm scare! Hurricanes are always super frightening for us kitties, we don't know if we need to evacuate, or if our human parents and friends will have everything we need with them when we do! As kitty friends and family yourselves, you know that the best way to avoid fear and frustration is to plan ahead and always be prepared for the worst - even when we're all hoping for the best! Don't get caught panicking during hurricane season, have your kitty's meds, food, vaccines, get checkups, and carrier ready to go in the event of a sudden weather event. We'll be extra grateful to you for it!

Over and out,
Raptor